ORSETT CHURCHWARDENS REPORT

A Happy New Year to one and all.

Each New Year brings opportunities for us to rethink our lives and consider what we can change for the good. This year has begun with major changes for two of our church families.

We have been asked many things since becoming churchwardens but I think the request we received at the end of December was one we were definitely not expecting and one which may well be a first for St Giles. Could we open the church on New Year's Eve for a very special event? Not a problem as we were going anyway. At about 4 pm we welcomed our guests, Taylor & Andrew, and after a short chat made ourselves scarce. Andrew knew how much St Giles meant to Taylor, so he wanted to be in the church when he asked her to marry him. Thankfully she agreed, with many tears and much laughter. Our congratulations to them both and we look forward to a wedding in the near future.

Not all changes bring laughter; some bring a mixture of joy and sadness. It is with this sadness that we learned the Oderinlo family are leaving our congregation to attend a church near to where they live in Thundersley. Although this is sad for us, it will bring joy for Joel, Samuel and Deborah as the church has a thriving youth group. We take this opportunity to thank them for their fellowship and wish all the family the best for the future.

We are also looking at changes inside the church building. If you are on our database you will have received an invitation to complete a questionnaire about such potential changes. We are in the process of printing and delivering these to all households in the parish. These will of course take time to reach everyone and we ask for your patience until you receive your copy. A copy of the draft plans can be found both in and outside each of the churches and we would ask that, if you feel able, you complete the questionnaire and return it as soon as possible. The returns will assist us with a grant application from the National Lottery.

Thanking you in advance
Christine and David Mortimer

Churchwarden's Report - St. Peter and Paul Horndon on the Hill

At our 10am Sunday service, we experienced what can only be described as a very British emergency: the toilet door staged a coup.

One moment, everything was peaceful. The next, the notoriously moody toilet handle decided it had had enough of its duties and trapped an unsuspecting worshipper inside. Mild panic fluttered throughout the building.

Alastair leapt into action, armed with the most fearsome tool available from the vestry: a butter knife. Sadly, the door remained unmoved.

Enter Colin from the Gardening Team, clutching Actual Tools. He dismantled the barrel; the door remained firmly shut.

Finally, a congregation member dashed home, returned with the right tools, and after some determined fiddling and one heroic shove, the captive was freed — slightly flustered but otherwise unharmed.

And the moral of this tale? Even when the situation looks unsurmountable, a little teamwork can get things moving again.

Our Interregnum has certainly brought its share of challenges and opportunities — depending on how you look at it — and it's highlighted just how much teamwork keeps everything running smoothly. Each month we find ourselves offering many well-deserved thank-yous, and this time we want to acknowledge Peter Woodard.

After the great toilet-door-handle incident, Peter kindly headed over to Basildon on a Sunday lunchtime to buy a replacement and then fitted it in time for the 4pm Refresh Service. A simple act, but a hugely appreciated one.

And the final thankyou is to Rev Max who has agreed to attend Tuesday's Open Church. Not only is he there to talk about spiritual matters, but he also offers a kindly ear to anyone who needs a moment of support or conversation.

God Bless

Bev Macrae

Bulphan Churchwarden's Report

Services continue at St Marys without a rector and for that we must thank Max and the help we have received from Deanery clergy.

Alastair and I are working well and learning all the various jobs that were previously silently carried out by Ron Porter.

We were given nine dressed miniature Christmas trees by Gavin Knowles which were put on the church window sills and were given out after the two Christmas services, some to people Gavin had specified. With the help of Alastair and some of the pupils from Castleton School the Christmas Tree together with all decorations was removed on 7th January.

During the Christmas period we tried our best to leave the church open every day for most of the day, with the decorated Christmas tree, small trees in window bays and illuminated Nativity, it seemed a shame to not make it accessible.

Generally, a busy period.

75th Anniversary Year

If you live locally and would like to come along to a service but need transport, or for any other information on our Church or our services please contact the Secretary: Ian Blackburn at the email above or on 07880 235140

This is the third in a short series of articles on the history of the Mission between 1938 – 51 explaining the background to our 75th Anniversary which we held last December. In the previous articles we saw how enthusiasm in the Mission had waned but had been reinvigorated midway through the Second World War and by 1945 members looked with expectation to the future. It was to be a long wait.

Decline and Revival: A history Part 3 - 1945 to 1948

With the war in Europe ended, ideas for erecting a temporary structure resurfaced after hearing that the Government had a scheme for selling temporary structures. It transpired though that a considerable waiting list had developed for temporary buildings and costs were high.

It was decided to form a sub committee of four members to steer investigation into a new building. An early idea was a self-build by volunteers with a Mr Hull to provide help as a professional. In July 1945 a letter was sent to the War Damage Commission (set up by the Government under the War Damage Act 1941 to pay compensation for War damage), to find out the 'present position and prospects'.

Eventually perceiving that the process may become rather bureaucratic, a proposal was made that the Mission ask the Baptist Union to see if they would take up the claim on the Mission's behalf. Mr Tebbit (the Baptist Union General Superintendent for the Eastern Area) and the Rev Keed (Minister at Brentwood Baptist church) were consulted regarding the process for obtaining War damage compensation and visited Bulphan. The Baptist Union though were finding it extremely difficult to get anything done for their own churches and they therefore thought 'that it would be from 2 -5 years before the building would be restored'

Very helpfully they offered a second-hand hut for £50 plus dismantling and transport costs. The Mission was very interested as it was thought the hut could be used as a Sunday School room after the main Hall had been erected. The secretary was asked to write to the local Council about permissions and conditions necessary to erect the hut to the rear of the former chapel site.

Throughout these years the Mission continued with a number of social events including a visit to Hampton Court, and regular musical services. There was considerable musical talent at the Mission led by the very talented Claude Banks from Horndon who played piano and drums and provided the sheet music. More remarkably he took as much as he could by bike with the drum kit coming by taxi! Others in the band were Bob Miller and Bill Challis – violins and a Mr Murray also from Horndon

Support from the wider community was also given, for example, members of the Orsett Congregational church (represented by the Rev Fountain) performed two acting sketches raising the very significant amount of £20 and on another occasion £5 from a concert they held.

It is evident from the 1945 AGM that the Mission was growing in terms of numbers with a membership of 34. Attendance at services was about 25. By the 1946 AGM the Mission had grown further and it was noted that the congregation at services sometimes numbered 30 to 40 with an implied membership of 50 plus.

In March 1946 friends of Orsett Congregational Church again generously gave the proceeds from the play 'Mystery at Greenfingers' to the building fund. Social events continued with the New Year's party, a coach outing and other 'socials' becoming regular features. As further evidence of the community pulling together a donation was received from the village Youth Club.

The forms from the War Damage Commission had finally arrived in December 1945 and it is difficult to ascertain why progress was slow through 1946, but it was agreed at the September meeting to approach an architect, Mr Spencer of Upminster, to draw up plans for a new building. It was decided that it should be built to the rear of where the former church Hall had been allowing for future development in front. However, by December Mr Spencer had yet to visit the site.

Winter days were beginning to bite. It was decided to have a rota of five volunteers to light up the stove early to make the Village Hall warmer for services. This reflects the precursor to the historically harsh winter of Jan – Mar 1947. Notwithstanding this the New Year's party put on by the two brothers Gurnett proved to be a success.

By March 1947 discussions had finally taken place with the architect about plans for the new church building. All the details had been discussed including the interior and even the gates, notice board and lavatory. It appears the brief had been to almost replicate the earlier building perhaps on the thinking that the War Damage Commission would only provide compensation for a 'like for like' building. However, the minutes first note the many difficulties faced by the building industry in the post war period. Owing to the national timber shortage the building would have to have plastered walls instead of matchboard lining and steel sash windows. Perhaps perceiving increasing costs and providing some vision to improve upon the old arrangements, the architect advised that he thought it wise to use some of the chapel's own money in addition to the compensation. The forms from the War Damage Commission were to be completed as soon as possible and Mr Spencer was to continue with the drawing up of plans.

By June Mr Spencer had submitted plans to the Mission for approval and with a few adjustments a planning application was made. By September the Council had still not made a decision regarding the planning application. The architect attributed this to the August vacation and thought that after the holiday season they would hear from them!

At the September 1947 AGM the chairman said he hoped (presumably a hope from 1945) that by this time he would have seen the new building. However, even by December 1947 there was still no response from the Council...

Finally, by March 1948 - good news! the Mission learned that planning permission had been granted for a new building at last.... However, close on its heels came the bad news! The architect reported that there was little immediate hope of getting a Building Licence!

Celebrating 150 Years of Mothers' Union: Join Us, Join In – Lighting the Way for Generations to Come 2026 marks 150 years since Mothers' Union was founded in the small parish church of Old Alresford, Hampshire, by Mary Sumner - a home-educated young vicar's wife with a powerful vision. She dreamed of women, regardless of class or status, coming together in faith to support one another and strengthen family life within the church.

From that small flame of an idea, a global movement was born. Today, 150 years later, Mothers' Union has grown to around 4 million members in 84 countries, working to improve the lives of individuals, families, and communities around the world. At the heart of all we do is our belief that faith and compassion can transform lives.

"Let your light shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your Father in heaven."
(Matthew 5:16)

And shine a light is what our members do. Whether someone finds themselves unexpectedly in the hospital, a family is grappling with a parent going to prison, or a baby is born prematurely, Mothers' Union members are there offering care, support, and love without judgment. We speak out against injustice, create safe spaces for conversation, and run parenting support groups - all helping to build stronger, more resilient communities.

All of our work is guided by our three core pillars of transformation: Ending Violence – promoting peace and safety, Ending Injustice – advancing gender justice and Ending Poverty – fostering self-reliance and resilience

Our global programmes include literacy and savings groups, parenting and resilience training, and domestic abuse awareness campaigns. These initiatives are rooted in local communities - we listen first, then respond with practical, faith-led action. Every day, globally, our members carry out thousands of quiet acts of service that bring hope and healing.

Mothers' Union today reflects the diversity of the modern world. We are a movement that continues to evolve, welcoming people of all backgrounds and identities. While we are a women-led movement, men are welcome to join! 150 years of courage, care, and community, and we're just getting started – so why not join us?

Chelmsford Diocese Mothers' Union (CDMU):

There's lots of exciting news this month – and not least, that I have joined the staff of the central Mothers' Union charity as the Faith and Church Engagement Manager! Part of my role is to develop faith resources for churches and members. This year, Mary Sumner Day falls on a Sunday – Sunday 9 August – and we're hoping that as many churches as possible will celebrate the life of Mary Sumner as founder of Mothers' Union. There was a Mothers' Union branch in Orsett for over 100 years so it would be wonderful to have that focus.

Throughout the year, our Diocesan President Maxine will be doing a sponsored 150th Midday Prayer Challenge, visiting a different historic location in the diocese. Maxine's first stop was Queen Elizabeth Hunting Lodge on 9th January. There will be a special MU fundraising page available soon to sponsor Maxine.

Something else for your diary is our Anniversary Challenge Tea Party on 22nd August at the Chapter House (near Chelmsford Cathedral) as part of our diocesan fundraising challenge for the 150th fund. There will be 3 bookable slots (10.30-12, 12.30-2 and 2.30-4). Tickets are being charged at £10 per adult and £5 per child and numbers for each session are limited. Why not come along? Please let me know if you would like a ticket or two. .

Did you know that MU prayers are said at midday, each day, on Facebook? www.facebook.com/MothersUnion I will be leading live from the Mary Sumner House chapel on Tuesday 3rd February, and on Saturday 21st February

Celebrating 150 years of Mothers' Union

Don't forget to get your tickets for the 150th Celebratory Service on 10 June 2026 at St Paul's Cathedral with the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Annual Gathering on 11 June 2026 at The Emmanuel Centre (next to Mary Sumner House, London)! They are both going to be wonderful occasions! Tickets are available online: <https://www.mothersunion.org/event/150/>

Prayer Diary 2026: February

The theme for February in our 2026 Prayer Diary is 'The selfless love of Christ': 'God proves His love to us in that whilst we were sinners Christ died for us' Romans 5:8. God came to us as man, in Jesus, and gave Himself for each and every one of us. Jesus never asked for anything from us, except for us to love one another. Do we do that? We are all sisters and brothers in Christ, but do we follow His example and love each other unconditionally? How can we show Christ's love this month? Maybe through the giving of time to MU programme work, sharing a card and prayer with an indoor member?

Monthly Prayer: Loving Lord, we thank You for the endless and selfless love that You have given to us. We know that every one of Your children is known to You and loved by You, no matter what. We give thanks for the example of love that we see in You. Let those who do not know Your love or those who have not experienced love as a person should, feel Your presence, hear Your word and know Your presence, now and always. Amen.

Creative Prayer: Dear Lord, Your son Jesus Christ grew to manhood to be a skilled carpenter, constantly learning at the side of His earthly father, Joseph. Encourage, nurture and bless us, with gifts of creativity, enriching us in so many ways, as we work to share our faith and love through the work of Mothers' Union worldwide.

Not Just Pancakes

This year Pancake Day, or Shrove Tuesday is on 17th February. Celebrated in many countries around the world, for Christians, Shrove Tuesday is traditionally a time associated with eating things like eggs, sugar and fats. Many of us mark this with eating pancakes to symbolically use up these foods before the fasting season of Lent begins.

However, Shrove Tuesday isn't just about pancakes.

Historically in the UK, Shrove Tuesday formed part of a more elaborate pre-Lent festival called Shrovetide, which was all about feasting and sports. Games ranged from blood sports like cockfighting to tug-o-wars and skipping. Yet the most widespread and longstanding Shrovetide sport was football.

According to players from Duns, a town in the Scottish Borders, in 1686, it was "an ancient custom throughout all this kingdom to play at football upon Fastens Eve (Shrove Tuesday)". Shrovetide ball games are mentioned from the 12th century onwards, in many communities throughout Britain, several of which in England and Scotland still take place today. Shop windows are boarded up and businesses are closed for the day as whole towns take to the streets to join in the annual Shrovetide football game.

As ancestors to our modern game, folk football matches varied considerably. But generally, players contested a ball with hand and foot, usually towards a goal. These were often the big matches sometimes featuring hundreds of participants. Whether town vs country, or married vs bachelors, teams battled to move the ball through streets and countryside, towards goals like mills, streams or even the church. Due to its destructive potential, these matches often fell foul of the authorities and were banned outright. Medieval royal prohibitions called it "vain, unthrifty and idle", while Puritans deemed it "a bloody and murdering practise".

Others in power obviously saw its appeal, judging from festive sponsorship in many cities and towns. In Chester, in the early 16th century, the Merchant Drapers' Company received a football from the Shoemakers' Company, a wooden ball from the Saddlers' Company and a small silk ball from each man from the city married within the last year. Under the mayor's supervision, the Drapers tossed up the balls (which doubled as prizes) for the craftsmen and crowd to play from the common field to the city's Common Hall. Chester's sponsorship was mirrored throughout the British Isles. Craftsmen and Guilds played key roles as participants and providers of the ball(s). On Shrove Tuesday 1373, skinners (who skin animals) and tailors played in the streets of London. Butchers did the same in Jedburgh, Scotland.

In the late 18th century in Alnwick in Northumberland, the Skinners' and Shoemakers' companies paraded the ball to a match between married and bachelor men. Leather workers like shoemakers were especially important, crafting footballs in 15th century London, 16th century Glasgow and 17th century Carlisle.

In many communities' newlyweds provided the ball. In Dublin, recently married men had to present a ball to city magistrates during the 15th and 16th centuries. Newlywed members of trade Guilds in Perth in Scotland, and Corfe Castle in Dorset also paid a Shrovetide "football due", while a similar custom seems to have existed in medieval London. These were part of a broader folk tradition, where newly married couples owed a "bride ball" or "ball money" to their community. Since weddings were customary during Shrovetide (and prohibited in Lent), it was an ideal time to collect this money. Local governments would gather the "wedding ball" dues, hire drummers and pipers to pump up the crowds, or pay for the footballs directly. Failure to pay your football dues could result in imprisonment, heavy fines or the forced closing of a craftsman's shop. These harsh consequences reflect the worth of Shrove Tuesday football to these communities. To them, it was not a pointless game, but an "ancient and laudable custom" of "goodly feats and exercise" where participation was often obligatory. Officials sponsored games that were technically illegal because Shrovetide football equated with the "common wealth of the city". Participation and patronage of the game reinforced the status and privilege that came with civic membership. Gradually, authorities in most major cities withdrew their support and some simply banned it because of the "many ills" and "disorder".

Others "reformed" the games into less dangerous entertainments, like foot and horse races in 1540s Chester, or a fire-engine display in 1725 in Carlisle. By the middle of the 18th century, officially sanctioned Shrovetide ball games were mostly confined to smaller market towns and villages, which is where some live on to this day.

So, as you reach for the batter this Shrove Tuesday, remember the history of the riotous game we call football and its lesser-known origins as a prelude to pancakes.

WOOLMARKET MUSIC

At our meeting on Thursday 8th January welcomed back the extremely talented Claudio Allodi, who entertained us with a wide range of melodies on his accordion. It was a wonderful evening of playing which took us around Italy, Scotland, France, Ireland and many others besides. Claudio was able to play all our requests for favourite pieces of music and I definitely think he'll be visiting us again!

Coming up

Our next meeting is on Thursday 12th February at 7.45pm but in Horndon Primary School hall.

The larger premises is to accommodate Harmonie Concert Band. They'll be playing a wide range of music including classics, popular and light music, marches, music from films and shows, and more demanding works written or arranged specifically for wind bands. We look forward to hearing them!

Ecology and Social Justice Action Group

Our parish (covering Horndon-on-the-Hill, Orsett and Bulphan) has 3 Church of England churches and they are all taking part in the A Rocha Ecochurch project.

A Rocha UK is a Christian charity working to protect and restore the natural world and committed to equipping Christians and churches in the UK to care for the environment.

Eco Church is a learning community of churches of all shapes and sizes open to all denominations in England and Wales. It provides a framework to support our churches and their leadership to take practical action on caring for God's earth, through the Eco Church survey. The Eco Church survey is a self-assessment tool for churches to connect environmental issues with their Christian faith and mission, and respond with practical action in the church, people's lives, and the local and global community.

There is a free online award scheme which covers five key areas of church life:

- Worship and teaching
- Buildings and energy
- Land and nature
- Community and global engagement
- Lifestyle

The Ecology and Social Justice Action Group was one of the 6 action groups established a few years ago - the other action groups are Children, Young People and Families, Communications, Fundraising, Mission Evangelism and Nurture, and Prayer. The aims of the Eco Group (to give it its shortened name!) are:

- To promote Eco Church all year long and work on achieving the next level award
- To promote Fairtrade products and run Fairtrade Fortnight and other related events during the year
- To promote an awareness of issues of social justice and consider how we should respond as Christians
- To promote and encourage the support of chosen Christian charities

Going back to the Ecochurch awards, there are bronze, silver and gold levels. All 3 of our churches gained their bronze award quite quickly. Bulphan then achieved their Silver award, with the other 2 churches being awarded Silver soon after. We are now working towards the much more challenging Gold Award status.

Our churches are the only 3 churches of any denomination with the silver award in Thurrock (All Saints Chafford 100 and Grays Parish Church hold bronze). There are only 4 churches in the whole of Essex with Gold status - 3 in Chelmsford and one in Colchester.

As well as campaigning for social justice locally, nationally and globally, our group is working mainly on improving our buildings & energy, and our land & nature impact.

If you would like to know more about the work of the Ecology and Social Justice Group, or Ecochurch, please contact Lynda Robertson 07974 803471, or Janet McCheyne 07752 836902.

Famous person for February

Mary Rudge

6th February 1842 – 22nd November 1919

Mary Rudge was born in 1842, in Leominster, Herefordshire the youngest child of Dr Henry and Eliza Rudge. Henry was a keen chess player and taught the game to his elder daughters, who in turn taught Mary. As her interest in chess developed she looked for more challenging opponents, taking part in a correspondence tournament in 1872, and a tournament in Birmingham two years later.

Shortly after that tournament Henry Rudge died, and Mary had to move with her sister Caroline, to live with their brother Henry, the curate of a small parish in Bristol.

Mary was now playing chess seriously and the move brought her into contact with the well-known Bristol Chess Club. The club had recently voted to admit women, and Mary was admitted as an associate. Mary had ended up in a place that was going to give her the opportunity to play competitive chess to a high standard.

In 1876 the Rev Henry moved to a new parish, but this post did provide enough income for the siblings and the following year they took over the new Luccombe House Preparatory School on Redland Green. Henry became the schoolmaster, and his sisters probably helped with the teaching. The venture may have started successfully because Henry gave up his curate's post in 1881, but by 1885 things were going wrong and in August the school closed. Henry moved to become curate at North Meols, near Southport, Lancashire, but Mary stayed in Bristol.

While at the school Mary appears to have played little chess, but after its closure she really started to make her mark. She won the Bristol & Clifton Chess Club's challenge cup which was open to men and women in 1889. In the same year she became the first woman to publicly play six people at the same time, beating them all and being hailed as "the leading lady player in the world".

At the time as this success Mary was in desperate straits financially and the club issued an appeal for donations to help her. Perhaps the school venture had wiped out any funds or legacy that had once existed. Mary was reduced to relying on a form of charity, as she became a companion to various ladies.

Over the next few years Mary took part in various competitions, playing for Bristol & Clifton, and for Gloucestershire. She won the Ladies' Challenge Cup in Cambridge in 1890 and was third in Class II.

Despite fears that "the event would be too taxing for the ladies" the first international women's chess tournament was held at the Ladies' Club in London in 1897. Twenty players entered and Mary was only able to attend as friends and chess enthusiasts clubbed together to pay for her to go. Once there, she was unbeatable and fought her way to victory and the £60 prize. Mary was 55 and had reached the pinnacle of her career and was described as "the strongest lady chess player in the world" and "entitled to style herself lady chess champion of the world".

Mary's health deteriorated in the next few years. Her sister Caroline died in 1900 leaving her on her own. In 1912, there was a new appeal for funds. In her later years she suffered from worsening rheumatism and died at Guys Hospital in London in 1919.
